Welcome message from Thomas Durand, EURAM President

Dear EURAM 2019 Participant,

I am delighted to welcome you at the 2019 EURAM conference in the beautiful city of Lisbon in Portugal.

We are hosted at ISCTE-IUL where a wonderful team is looking forward to taking good care of you. Many contributors worked hard to set up a magnificent program for you. After the record-breaking number of paper submissions and participants last year in Reykjavik, Lisboa 2019 already broke the paper submission record again (2000 submissions received) and may end up breaking the participant record number as well. I wish to thank all those who contributed to make the conference a stimulating arena where you can share, discuss and develop your ideas, interact with colleagues and learn from them, design and set-up new joint projects. My thanks go to the organizing team at ISCTE-IUL under Nelson Antonio's leadership, EURAM's team in Brussels, our VP conference Dorota Dobija and VP SIGs Remi Jardat, all the track and SIG chairs and their teams, the many reviewers of papers submitted and above all yourself as I see you as the very heart of EURAM.

The European Academy of Management aims at developing Management Research and Education to improve knowledge and practice about how to lead organized collective action. EURAM was founded to build a community of engaged management scholars valuing the European culture and research traditions as many European (and non-European) management academics were looking for an academy where they would feel at home.

EURAM fosters a friendly and professional forum of management academics promoting diversity, quality, openness and inclusiveness. EURAM cultivates the value stemming from its European roots while reaching out for the world, hence connecting to both national academies and international societies. Beyond this, EURAM targets three main stakeholders (practitioners, students and Society), adapting the wavelength, language and format accordingly, not simply expecting the output of academic research to naturally fulfil the needs of stakeholders. EURAM intends to discuss and influence the rules of the game in management academia, typically producing soft law, and aims at developing its presence in the media by addressing important societal challenges seen from a management research perspective.

Several concrete EURAM initiatives are underway to give substance to these strategic orientations. Join us at the General assembly on Thursday morning where these initiatives will be presented, among which dual membership schemes; presidential activities; EURAM Sparks; discussing the "rules of the Game" in our profession; addressing Grand Societal Challenges; Grants and awards.

It is now up to you to make the best out of the conference.
Welcome to EURAM 2019. Enjoy the conference!
And take the time to feel the spirit of Fado!

Thomas Durand
EURAM President

Welcome message from Maria João Cortinhal, Dean of ISCTE-IUL Business School

Dear participants,

I warmly welcome you all to the 19th edition of the EURAM conference. It is a great pleasure to host at ISCTE-IUL such a prestigious conference, even more, when the theme is "Exploring the Future of Management."

Over the last years, the world of business has been changing dramatically. Driven mainly by globalization and technological innovation a countless number of profit and non-profit organizations are already operating with new management practices. However, in a volatile, uncertain, complex, and ambiguous (VUCA) world there are still many emerging issues that need to be addressed. How can we deal with complex problems such as environmental disasters, ageing populations, and refugees? How can we take advantage of large amounts of data to reach better and more efficient solutions? How can we achieve a better and more sustainable future for all? These are questions that are worth our attention.

I am confident that bringing together around 1700 participants for discussing such topics will provide a better understanding of the Future of Management.

Lastly, I would like to sincerely thank all who have been engaged in the organization of this conference for all of their hard work throughout the past months. Without them, this conference would have been impossible.

I wish you all an exceptional conference.

Maria João Cortinhal

Dean of ISCTE-IUL Business School
