

ELENA GRISHINA, PhD in economics, Head of the Laboratory for Living Standards and Social Protection Research, Institute of Social Analysis and Forecasting, RANEPA

Presently, she is engaged in the research project “Development of the market of social services for the elderly in the face of a growing life expectancy”. Her research interests and publications are in the field of social protection, social services and pension policy.