

Position

Software Developer at 1C

About the company

1C is an independent Russian software developer and publisher. 1C Company is engaged in the development of business applications for small, medium and large businesses on the basis of its own technological platform 1C: Enterprise platform (framework) for rapid development and deployment of business automation software. Business application suite including ERP and BPM-class solutions for manufacturing, trade, logistics, accounting, finance management, payroll & HR, document management and 1000+ more applications for different business tasks and industries.

Key responsibilities

- development of applications on the basis of 1C: Enterprise platform (e.g. of such a system, 1C: Drive, demo mode, see here)

OR

- further development of the 1C: Enterprise platform

Required profile

The internship may be of interest to students who are studying at the following courses:

- Software Engineering Technology (who studied the application of ICT for a Business course)
- Database Design and Business Applications Development
- Other specialized curricula of Information Technologies

Application

Application on the website <https://stageinrusland.org/applicants/#posire>

In case of questions please contact Elena Agafonova eagafonova@nesorussia.com.

The internship is unpaid but a successful candidate is entitled to a one-time payment in the amount of €750.