Semester in Moscow

The Higher School of Economics invites international students who are currently enrolled in undergraduate and graduate programs at their home universities to take part in Semester in Moscow.

Students can create their own curriculum drawn from a wide array of English- and Russian-taught courses offered by HSE in the center of Moscow, Russia.

Students can attend HSE for one or two semesters and earn transferable ECTS credits (average course load: 30 credits/semester). This is an opportunity not only to improve specific knowledge and study in an interdisciplinary program, but also to study Russian language and discover Russia in the heart of its capital city.

Fields of study:

- Computer Science
- Economics
- Finance and Economics
- Humanities
- Management
- Mathematics
- Russian Studies
- Russian as a Foreign Language
- Social Sciences
- World Economics and International Affairs
